Protecting The Majority

For the first time since Senate rules were rigged to give minorities an unfair advantage over majorities in 1917, unlimited debate on a civil rights measure has been shut off.

When senators have talked an hour apiece, if they want to use up another 100 hours of time, a final vote can be taken on the pending civil rights bill.

Its passage never has been in doubt, provided it could be voted on. It has been held up by a handful of irreconcilable Southern racists plus a scattering of states rightists.

SENATE LEADERSHIP had been patient with these people since late last winter when they began to practice ob-

Public opinion had been patient with them. The American people are in no mood to ride roughshod over any minority, least of all this minority.

Everything possible has been done to protect their rights and feelings. They have been shown every courtesy. Their spokesmen have been invited to speak in other parts of the country and given all the protection of law under the Constitution that they refuse to give many of their fellow citizens.

They have been permitted to misrepresent the civil rights bill in states like Ohio, where similar measures have been in effect many years with none of the dire consequences alluded to in anti-civil rights literature.

GOVERNMENT officials have been tolerant of them, despite the fact their in-transigence has been an embarrassment in U.S. contacts with other countries with colored populations. The Supreme Court has been tolerant of them, giving them the option of indefinite delay in carrying out court orders.

The Executive Department has leaned over backward to show them consideration. Congress, with the most to lose through their domination, has grinned and bore abuse of their undue influence and their interminable talking when they wanted to stall overdue legislative action.

When will Southern intransigents show the same tolerance for the overwhelming majority of their fellow Americans that they have been receiving during the 100 years since their kind precipitated the bloodiest civil war in history and lost it?

Platforms To Run On

So much was said about party platforms in the preview of the Republican National Convention at Cleveland during the Governors Conference that someone could have gone away from the meeting with a wrong idea. Party platforms have not changed.

The wrong idea could have been that the Republican platform this year is going to be the key to the presidential nom-inee's state of mind. This could have stemmed from the idea several times ex pressed in Cleveland-that an ultracon servative presidential nominee like Sen. Barry Goldwater could be made palatable to Republican liberals by making him run on a liberal platform and that thereafter the senator, if elected, would be a changed man.

A few well-established facts about party platforms need to be dragged into the open and re-examined every fourth year.

1. PARTY platforms are not binding. They are campaign devices. They are designed to be run on, not stood on.

2. Though a party platform is, in a general way, a statement of party principles, it is not necessarily a statement of party practices. Thus, the 1960 Democratic platform's statements about civil rights had not the slightest effect on anti-civil-rights Democrats in Congress, in state legislatures, or in governorships. These Democrats scorned the platform.

3. Relatively few Americans ever see the text of a party platform, or know what principles have been embodied in the platforms. Once the campaign is over, the platform is filed away and referred to thereafter only by party critics.
The 1960 Democratic platform pledged sweeping reform of government. It said Democrats would substitute planning for confusion etc. It promised to rout poverty etc., as did the Republican platform.

PLATFORMS make interesting reading as years go by. The process of writ ing them is one of the toughest convention chores because the platform com-mittee turns into a battleground for the factions whose hostilities frequently cause platforms to be scuttled without trace. But the platforms are hot Holy Writ.

They are statements of what the best elements in a party would like to stand for if circumstances were ideal. They have negligible effect in the less than ideal circumstances of day-to-day government.

If Sen. Goldwater sews up the presidential nomination that no one now believes can be denied him, the Republican party platform will not change him into something different than he was before.

It is far more likely that he and his friends would win the right to dictate a platform that would change party principles into something they never were

Under Any Flag

Some veterans of the area may be skeptical of a planned test by the NATO nations of operating a destroyer with an international crew.

The USS Biddle has been designated a floating laboratory for studying the compatibility of officers and men from The Netherlands, Turkey, Greece, West Germany, Italy and Great Britain.

The U. S. Navy labels the planned operation "a demonstration of mixed manning as a prelude to a multilateral force concept.'

The idea of the western Allies working together, man to man, in a common defense of freedom and liberty is exciting; more, it is actually the fundamental hope of the free world.

But World War II servicemen are probably recalling some of the not-very genial regard the British and Americans had for each other at times. What about Greeks and Turks, currently at odds over Cyprus, working together in gunnery practice? Can the Germans and Italians forget the failure of the Rome-Berlin axis?

What the World War II vintage experts forget is that this is a new generation of soldiers and sailors, a more internationally-minded group of men who have been

It makes me think of the way it used to be when big John was kicking down his box stall and someone had to go in and tie him down. There was no rush for the door when it was eased open far enough for a hero to slip in sideways.

I understand, of course, that more is at stake here than merely running for president; that the real fight is for control of the party. But it appears to me that if controlling the party means running against Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964 no one wants to control the party that much, except Barry Goldwater.

WHAT REALLY has made things look so good at this time for President Johnson? After all, he isn't really the greatest thing since four-wheel brakes.

It is easy to understand.

We vote negatively in national elections. Most of the time we vote to throw somebody out of office. It isn't once in a blue moon that we vote to put somebody

Eager Beavers

Some financial assistance for industrial development in Beaver County was handed out this week by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

The Beaver County Industrial Development Agency was granted $1,768 for promotion work, part of $350,000 appropriated for use on a matching basis to help studies and development projects on the county

This is typical of the diverse investments of time, money and hard work on behalf of new industry or expansion of present industry across the nation, and points up the sharp competition in this field.

We hope Beaver County's grant will reap a harvest, helping to add to the economic growth of the Tri-State District.

By Truman Twill

We were everjoyed that Lyndon B. Johnson was able to rise to the occasion. We were congratulating one another that the United States had been equipped with a vice president who knew the ropes.

In the months that followed, we were willing to believe Mr. Johnson's experience had brought the country more efficient government that it had been getting under President Kennedy, because the latter could not get along with Congress successfully. Our new President had the touch that John Kennedy lacked.

THIS IS WHY President Johnson is a favorite to win the election. The American people had a change of administration through the tragedy in Dallas last November. They are in no mood to "throw out the rascals," as the saying goes.

The way it looks from here is that no one really wants the Republican nomination in 1964, not even Barry Goldwater. But he had been going after it so long he couldn't back away when the door opened.

And don't try to tell us it isn't funny watching all those Republicans maneuvering to keep from being first into the box stall to hog-tie Lyndon Johnson.

We are well here and hope you are the same. Your aunt sends regards. COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

That's pre- Victor Riesel cisely what intimate friends of Mr. Johnson in New York are saying. They expect the attorney general to make his announcement on or about June 18. He can't wait much longer. Other forces are pressing for com-mitments from the liberal and labor leaders who will be the dynamos of any Democratic candidate campaign.

Obviously the regular Democratic machine leaders are not receiving Kennedy with boundless joy. They had their plans and these did not include the attorney general.

The real fight, the real money and the manpower, therefore, will have to come from union and Negro ranks. And they will not wait more than a few weeks for word from Bob Kennedy. So they will have it.

THERE ARE several reasons for this decision, the New York politicos are saying.

One is Lyndon John's remarkable performance in making himself the symbol of militant liberalism and inegration as well as the voice of labor.

Mr. Johnson, the first modern Southern candidate for the presidency, set about accomplishing this within a few hours of his airplane inauguration. On reaching Washington he contacted such Negro leaders as Roy Wilkins of the NAACP, Jim Farmer of CORE, Urban League Leader Whitney Young and Martin Luther King Jr.

He had them into his office and typical with his conversation with Young, whom he told, eyeball to eyeball, that he would not make mellifluous speeches but would deliver to the Negro but had weakened the incumbent Kenneth Keating, a Rockefeller ally.

If Goldwater is nominated,

Keating will either have to join him or disown him. If the New York senator supports the Arizonan, he loses the liberal vote. If he disowns him, he loses the conservative vote, which he may lose anyway. The Conservative party in New York State is considering nominating its own candidate for the Senate against Keating. If so, Keating will probably lose between 150,000 and 200,000 votes-perhaps more.

ALL THIS the Kennedy "team" has considered-just as they mulled the alternatives to his running for the Senate. If he doesn't, he must retreat from political life for a while, which is not like a Kennedy. Or he could run for the Senate against Harry Byrd in Virginia, where the Robert Kennedys reside, but he might as well try for the governorship of Mississippi. Eventually, he might run for the governorship of Massachusetts. But without an ally in the that state as a base for power as quickly and effectively as the bigger and more powerful New York.

If he makes it as senator from New York, he could become governor. There is precedent for that. And once governor, he could run for the presidency. There is precedent for that, too. It would take time but he has time. That's why insiders say he has decided to go for broke on the U.S. Senate race. And he might go broke, politically speaking-Kenneth Keating is a very popular and hardworking out of the presidential running senator-and campaigner.

Amendment Taboo

By David Lawrence

Noted Lawyers File Surprising Statement

A surprising statement has just been filed with the House

Judiciary Committee by 223 lawyers, including 55 deans of law schools and several college professors, many of them of the socalled liberal school of thought. They have taken a stand which will be construed as David Lawrence meaning that, so far as possible, further amendments to the Constitution must be blocked and that the Supreme Court of the United States must be left to rewrite the Constitution at

The current controversy arises as a consequence of the Supreme Court's decisions which have produced widespread ap-prehension that the word "God" cannot be mentioned in public school exercises and that voluntary prayers may be prohibited in educational institutions or in connection with official activities of the govern-

THE STATEMENT warns those who have been agitating for a constitutional amendment that they are, in effect, engaging in something bordering on impropriety.

Dozens of amendments, for instance, have been proposed to overrule the decisions of the Supreme Court on the subject of prayer in exercises or ceremonies in schools, but the statement of the 223 citizens asks for a kind of cloture on further consideration of all such amendments by Congress. The statement says:

'American liberties have been secure in large measure because they have been guaranteed by a Bill of Rights which the American people have until now deemed practically unamendable."

This will come as a shock to many people who have always thought the Constitution could be amended whenever public opinion desired it and that there is nothing so sacred about anything in the Constitution that the people couldn't change it

THE RECENT movement to submit to the people an amendment safe-guarding the right to pray grew out of a deep-seated belief that the Supreme Court had taken away a funda-mental right and had indeed violated that part of the Constitution which states that there should be no interference with "the free exercise" or religion. The statement of the protesting group, however, says:

"W h a f e v e r disagreements some may have with the Bibleprayer decisions, we believe strongly that they do not justify this experiment. Accordingly, we urge that Congress approve no measures to amend the First Amendment in order to overrule these decisions.'

The lawyers who filed the statement have a right to their opinion and to argue against any proposed amendment to the Constitution, but it comes as a surprise to find such a learned group stating that the mere attempt to use the amending process prescribed in the Constitution is dangerous. The sponsors of this viewpoint add:

"If the first clause of the Bill of Rights, forbidding laws respecting an establishment of religion, should prove so easily susceptible to impairment by amendment, none of the succeeding clauses will be secure.'

SUCH SWEEPING declaration is hardly justified because, for one thing, there are more than 100 proposals for a constitutional amendment, along with the resolution submitted by Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-NY, in behalf as many members of Congress, all of which are merely designed to safeguard the right to pray in official surroundings. Entirely apart from the merits of the issue itself as it relates to the right to prayer, the controversy over methods of amending the Constitution may be intensified.

In 1962 the National Council of State Governments adopted a resolution proposing an additional formula. Thus, if two thirds of the state legislatures submitted identical texts for a proposed amendment, three fourths of the states could then ratify it without any further action by Congress.

Whether the foregoing proposal is a desirable one or not. the fact remains that many constitutional lawyers in the United States believe that, if Congress is going to block the amending process, some way must be found to enable the people themselves to initiate amendments to the federal Constitution through their own state legis-

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I wish to make an urgent plea to citizens of Wellsville to get behind a plan to get the city out of the "rut" and start progressing.

Last week at Council meeting much discussion was given to the problems of the City.

I believe the primary intent of the majority of the people there was good, but in my opinion some remarks made were uncalled for and in very poor taste. I hope the people guilty of this type behavior will in the future, if they must present themselves before Council, will conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen.

I admit I have made mistakes, am inexperienced in legislating and public speaking, but I am interested in a better Wellsville

So many times people faced with such problems tend to take the easy way out instead of getting together and searching out all possible means of correcting the situation. We must forget personalities and rededicate ourselves overcoming all obstacles and getting the city back on the road to recovery.

Due to the passage of the State Bond Issue in the May Election, Wellsville was promised construction of Route 7 through the city would be moved up to 1968. A survey recently taken by the Junior Chamer of Commerce showed some 250 families would be affected by this project. Som ething must be done to provide a place for these people involved.

Our City Limits have not been changed since 1864. We must investigate extending the Corporation Limits to include the outlying areas. This way we can retain these people and gain back some of the population we have lost in the past.

At the same time it may be possible to vacate some of the properties along the river and railroad for use as industrial

We have no planned youth program in the city. In fact we haven't had any major project for the children since the erection of the playground in the days of the W.P.A. People and industry aren't going to be attracted to a city that has nothing for the children.

With the erection of the super dam at Stratton, the Ohio River has become very much more in demand as an ideal spot for pleasure boating, not to mention the commercial use and scenic view. This if it were investigated and used properly, could be very much a factor to bring people into the City.

I have proposed to Council formation of an advisory board, made up of citizens who want to see the city get back on the road to progress. Any idea pertaining to the City's progress and growth could be investigated by this board. After investigation, reports would be made to Council on the applicability of the plan to the City. If the reports were favorable, Council could pass legislation to make the plan a part of a redevelopment meas-I am asking that all service

Patrol To End Driver Exams On Saturdays

Examinations for driver's licenses at Lisbon, Steubenville and other sites throughout Ohio will not be given on Saturdays after June 15, the Ohio Depart-ment of Highway Safety announced today.

Director Warren C. Nelson said the new schedule calls for Monday through Friday operation of examining stations instead of Tuesday through Saturday as conducted previously. It applies only to those locations where examinations are conducted five days a week, including the Lisbon State Highway Patrol's station

"The principal reason for the change in the examining schedule to eliminate Saturday and add Monday at this time," son said, "is to make better use of our examining personnel and facilities and enable our examiners to be of greater service to the people.'

At the same time it was announced that the daily examining hours in the same locations would be extended for an hour in the evenings. The new hours will be from 9 a.m., to 6 p.m. They were previously 8 a.m., to

The new schedule will spread the work load for our driver license examiners and permit examinations under more favorable conditions," the director said. The crowded conditions on Saturdays are becoming intolerable for the examinees and the examiners. In some cities it has created traffic problems which are objectionable.

Recent studies have shown, ccording to Nelson, that Saturday, originally set for the working man, no longer serves that purpose. Less than a third of the persons appearing now on Saturday for an examination are in the wage -earner cate-

State Assistance Hinted Next Year On City Projects

State Highway Department officials indicated to an East Liverpool delegation in Columbus Tuesday that some assistance may be available on two of three local projects in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1965, Engineer George S. Bloomgren reported to Council Wednesday night.

The engineer, along with Mayor Merrill D. Hall, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper conferred with the state officials on assistance in improvement of Lisbon St., construction of an auto-pedestrian ramp to tie together the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St. and resurfacing of Pennsylvania Ave.

Availability of funds for East Liverpool projects will depend upon state allocations to its Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, Bloomgren said. The program for such work "is set for this year, but there is hope we can get at least two of the projects next (fiscal) year," Bloomgren said. He did not specify which two projects have the best possibility of consideration.

There also was a discussion on eastward extension of the Freeway and the state officials indicated they hope a contract can be let in 1967 or 1968, provided plans are completed in time. Bloomgren added.

Kent's Salem Center

To Shut For Summer

The summer session at Kent State University's Salem Academic Center will be suspended, according to R. J. Velzy, director, who said this will enable greater effort to be placed towards the fall classes which definitely will begin Sept. 23.

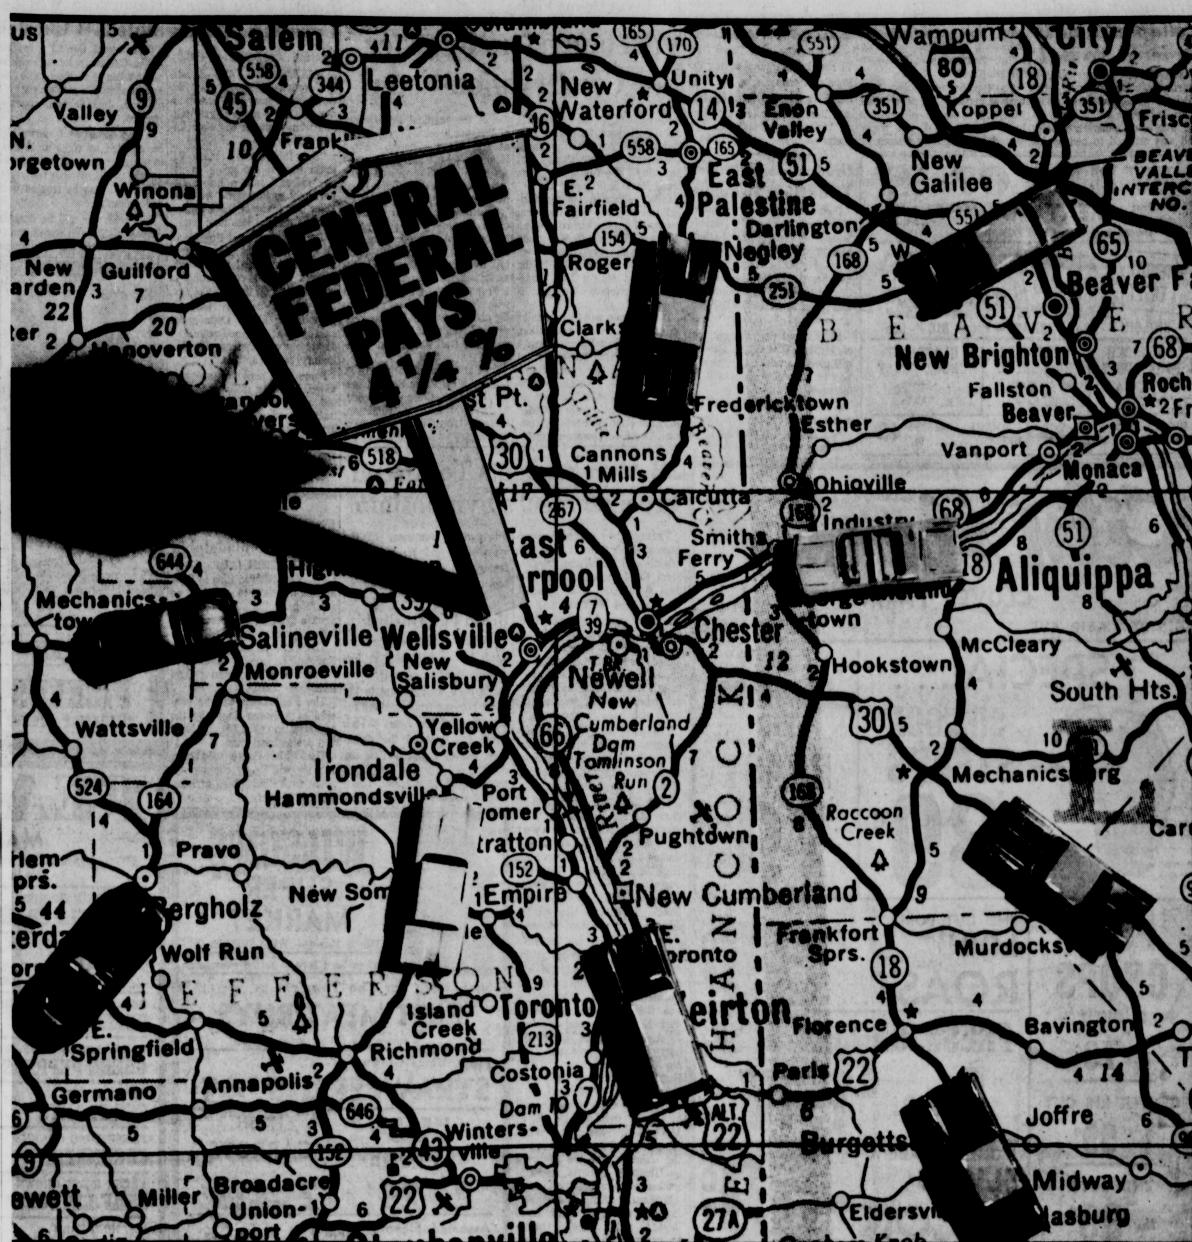

Summer classes are always offered as an option to the academic year classes and the university has often canceled classes in prior summers in the academic centers.

The Kent State Center Office, located in Salem Senior High School, will be closed for vacations from June 27 to Aug. 17. Present office hours will be held weekdays only until June 26.

Students who had enrolled in summer classes at the Salem Center may enroll in either of the Kent centers in Warren or Canton, or fees can be returned.

Head Injuries Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP) - S. T. Tyes, 40, of Cleveland, died in Huron Road Hospital Wednesday four hours after he was hit on the head by a 20-pound concrete block that fell 200 feet from a high rise apartment being built. Tyes was unloading material from his truck when he was struck by the block, which slipped off an outside elevator at the 22nd floor of the Crystal Towers apartment build-

BEEN WONDERIN' WHERE TRI-STATERS GO TO EARN TOP DIVIDENDS ON THEIR DOUGH

Tri-States who want to make their savings grow the fastest possible way, with the greatest degree of security, and at the largest dividend rate, stash their cash at Central Federal Savings and Loan in Wellsville. There, they earn a giant 4 1/4% on their savings. Not only that - their savings are insured up to $10,000 by an agency of the federal government. Now what more could anyone ask? You probably would ask for friendly service, and you'll find no service more friendly than the service you'll receive from the helpful folks at Central Federal. Why don't you stop in soon (and bring some money you want to grow).

4 Americans Still Left In British Golf

By JOHN ARROW Associated Press Sports Writer GANTON, England (AP)-"Hurry home, daddy."

That was the cable Dale Morey received from his two children-Maureen, who became six Wednesday, and Doug, who will be seven on Sunday-as the 44-year-old American from High Point, N.C., prepared to tackle Michael Bonallack, winner of the British Amateur in 1961, in the fourth round of this year's championship today.

Morey and three other Americans are left in the last 32 of the tournament

Morey said that he was out to do well this year after winning the North and South and pointed

"After this year I'll have to think seriously about cutting back on competitive golf. At 44 this is something you've got to

He said that playing in the British Amateur in a bid to win a place on his country's Eisenhower Trophy team meant that he had missed the sixth birthday of his daughter and also "may mean that I'll miss Douglas's birthday on Sunday.'

Morey was one of two Americans left in the last 32 who missed birthday parties at home. The other was John Thornton, of Rochester, N.Y. whose son, John Jr., will be 10 years old on Saturday.

Thirty-one Americans started out in the British championship n a field of 200.

Morey made the last 32 with a 3 and 1 victory over Eddy Shamash, a 22-year-old Scot. Thornton got through to the same round with a 3 and 1 victory over Mike Pearson of

The other Americans in the fourth round are 52-year-old Bob Sweeny, winner of the title in 1937, and Jimmy Bostwick, of Locust Valley, N.Y. Sweeny is from Palm Beach, Fla.

The championship is being decided over the 6,854 yards Ganton course, which carries a par of 36-35-71. Competitors have to play seven 18-hole rounds to reach Saturday's 36-hole final.

-Junior Editors Quiz on-ATLANTIS

QUESTION: Does the lost continent of Atlantis exist under the ocean?

ANSWER: As civilization grew around the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, people began to wonder what lay beyond the great ocean which lapped the Western shores of Europe and Africa. Legends and rumors grew of strange lands to the westward. The great Greek philosopher and writer, Plato, who lived between 427 and 347 B.C., took the legend of a large imaginary island or continent to the west. a large imaginary island or continent to the west, Atlantis, and described it in great detail, writing that once an empire existed there, and that its armies had invaded Europe successfully, with only Athens resisting their attacks. Then, went on Plato, great earthquakes split Atlantis to pieces and the continent sank beneath the sea. This story became famous and was believed by many persons. Maps such as we show were drawn with rivers and cities. However, in recent years oceanographic expeditions probed the ocean bottom and made maps, and found no trace of Atlantis under the area it was supposed to occupy. Only the narrow submerged mountain range, the Mid Atlantic Ridge, raises itself above the ocean floor. It was clear that Atlantis was a mythical continent only.

FOR YOU TO DO: The ancients dreamed of imaginary western continents; nowadays, we are thinking about what the moon will look like when some exporer steps out from his space ship. Make a collection of pictures showing the imaginary lunar landscape.
